CAHRS Has a Wealth of Knowledge to Share With Your Team!

Several partners have asked us if the information we send to you is available for them to share with their teams – and the answer is yes! In fact, we strongly encourage this type of knowledge sharing. One CAHRS HR generalist told us that he shares various articles with members of his team – and suggests that they in turn share with those that report to them. In this way, the HR information CAHRS shares is widely distributed – and our members get the maximum benefits of the latest information.

Whether you use it internally in the form of an HR Webcast Series, Monthly HR Brief, Weekly HR Learning Tip, etc., CAHRS information is available to you for learning opportunities for your organization.

Here are just a sampling of the latest research, which you can find categorized by Centers of Excellence at our website:
